

Amendments to the Abstract:

Please replace the previous Abstract with the new Abstract provided on the following separate sheet.

ABSTRACT

An air treatment device having electrodes supported by a housing and a voltage generator operatively coupled to the electrodes. The air treatment device includes at least one sensor operatively coupled to the voltage generator for sensing a condition and providing signals used for adjusting the voltage generated by the voltage generator.